PREFACE

WITH this issue "American Book-Prices Current" rounds out a quarter of a century of continuous yearly publication, and this volume undoubtedly contains records of more interest to collectors and bibliophiles than any of the earlier volumes.

The auction season of 1918-1919 showed greater stability of prices and values were not quite as erratic as they have been during the past war years. Some remarkable records were made, one being the re-sale of Milton's "Comus," the dedication copy from the Bridgewater library. This copy was offered in the sale of duplicates from the library of Mr. H. E. Huntington at the Anderson Galleries on February 4, 1918, when it was purchased by Mr. Herschel V. Jones for $9,400.00. It was again offered in the second portion of the sale of Mr. Jones's library, January 29-30, 1919, realizing the price of $14,250.00, a tremendous advance on the price paid by Mr. Jones. Of course a book of such excessive rarity, together with the added distinction of being the "dedication copy," places it in a class by itself. Another record was made in the sale of Poe's "Tamerlane," which realized $11,600.00 in the Halsey sale on February 18, 1919. There are four copies only known, and of these this was the only one complete with the original wrappers and untouched by the binder.

Among other interesting sales was that of the Library of the late William Temple Emmet at the Anderson Galleries. This was a fine "reader's library" and contained many splendid rare books. Part II of the Shakespeare Library contained many fine items of early English literature in addition to the Shakespeare material. In the collection of Mr. C. F. Gunther were many early books, manuscripts and fine pieces of Americana. On November 6-7, Part IX of duplicates from the library of Mr. H. E. Huntington was sold, realizing very high prices. November 18 to 21, Part I of the stock of Mr. Robert H. Dodd was sold; on Nov. 23, the autographs; and on Jan. 13-14, Part II of the books. Mr. Dodd, after a long and prominent career as a rare book dealer, retired from business, and this was the dispersal of the remainder of a most interesting collection of rare books, manuscripts and autograph letters. The publication of "American Book-Prices Current" was started by Mr. Dodd twenty-five years ago, and the record has undoubtedly been of the greatest advantage to American and English dealers in secondhand and rare books. Parts I to III of the sale of the library of Mr. Herschel V. Jones took place on Dec. 2-3, 1918, Jan. 29-30, and Mar. 4-5, 1919, it contained a wealth of wonderful material and the prices realized were very high. A timely sale was that of rare books on aeronautics and early works on railroads on March 10-11, many of the books on aeronautics appearing in the auction room for the first time. That portion of the collection relating to railroads was sold en bloc, hence does not appear in the record. Rare books and manuscripts from the stock of the late Edmund D. Brooks were sold April 23-25. Mr. Brooks was much liked in the rare book business, both in this country and in Europe, and the loss of such a charming and cultured personality was felt by all who knew him. His stock contained many fine and rare items, particularly some unpublished Stevenson material. The library of Mr. James Stillman was sold by the American Art Association on Nov. 18-21, 1918; it contained many fine art books, rare items and handsomely bound sets, also a fine lot of color plate books. The library of Mr. Alfred J. Cox, sold Dec. 9-10, contained many bindings of great beauty and value executed by himself. The J. Barton Townsend library, sold February 4-6, 1919, offered a fine collection of original issues of books illustrated by early nineteenth century illustrators, the color plate books of the Cruikshanks, Rowlandson, Gillray, and others bringing good prices. Color plate books not only appeal to the eye but as a rule the text is amusing and entertaining, and no other class of books has appreciated more in value than they have in the past few years. Early English books have advanced tremendously in certain instances, but taken as a whole, the advance of color plate books has been steady and consistent.

Some remarkably interesting manuscripts, historical documents, and autograph letters from the estates of Cæsar Rodney, the Signer, Col. Thomas Rodney, and Cæsar A. Rodney were sold on June 13, 1919, by Stan. V. Henkels in Philadelphia; particularly interesting in this collection being a remarkably fine letter of Benjamin Franklin in reference to German emigration to Pennsylvania.

The intrinsic value of rare books will always be misunderstood by some doubters, who should be convinced by the prices brought in the sale of the collection of Mr. H. V. Jones. Not only did Mr. Jones have the pleasure of accumulating this remarkable collection for some years, but as an investment few purchases during the same period could have proved more satisfactory; his library must have increased in value three or four times during his ownership.

Just as we are going to press the news comes of the sudden death of Mr. George D. Smith, one of the most prominent figures in the rare book world of to-day, known not only to dealers and collectors but to the general public for his prominence in the book auction rooms of New York and London. He possessed remarkable courage, and it is well known that he had more to do with the high prices of rare books than anyone else in the world. It can truly be said that there was no one who better understood and appreciated the foibles of the book collector.

The selection of the items in this record proved an even more difficult task than usual, owing not only to the increase in the number of items sold but to the large increase in the number of items of great value and interest. In some cases, books coming up frequently and selling for the same or closely approximate prices during the past two or three years have been eliminated, this has been necessary in order to leave space for items coming up for the first time, and for the first time in some years. The vast mass of material from which the selection has to be made would fill at least two or three volumes of this size.

The present volume contains records of 13,500 lots selected from 119 catalogues describing some 93,400 lots. As it may come into the hands of some persons not familiar with the work, the following explanation of the abbreviations used and of the scheme of the work is reprinted from the earlier volumes.

The name of the author (or, in the case of anonymous books, the first word of the title) is set in black-faced capitals.

Club or Press publications are (generally) under the Club or Press, and a few other books, such as anonymous histories and biographies, are entered under their subject. The titles of the various works of an author, printed in black-faced lower case type, are arranged in alphabetical order. This is followed by the place where printed, the printer (in a few cases), the date, and the size of the volume. The first portion of the description is general and applies to all copies of the work. Following this general description is the specific description of the copy or copies of the book as sold, each lot beginning a new line. This specific description is made up as follows:

First. A description of the binding, the abbreviations being those which are universally used and understood.

Second. A statement as to the condition of the particular copy recorded, if on large paper, if with extra plates inserted, if from a famous library, etc.

Third. The name of the sale, where a name was given on the catalogue. This does not mean in every case that the name as given is that of the owner of the book, as additions from other unannounced sources are often included with books of a known owner.

Fourth. Capital letter, indicating the name of the auctioneer under whose management the sale took place.

A. is the Anderson Galleries.

B. is Charles F. Heartman.

G. is the American Art Association.

H. is Stan. V. Henkels.

L. is Charles F. Libbie and Company.

S. is Scott and O'Shaughnessy.

W. is the Walpole Galleries.

Fifth. The date of the sale. In case of sales of more than a single day's duration, this date is that of the first day of the sale.

Sixth. The lot number in the original sale catalogue.

Seventh. The price realized. This is the price for the lot, not per volume.

[The only other known copy appears to be the one owned by the Massachusetts Historical Society. In that copy the "Postscript" of 20 lines is printed on a separate slip, added at the back after the last page, which is blank on the reverse side. In this copy the "Postscript" is in contemporary handwriting, on the reverse of the last leaf. It is quite as possible that this is the original text and that a few copies of it were printed after the pamphlet had been read by someone who realized the necessity for an explanatory appendix. [In March, 1821, Lord Byron sent a letter to Murray with additional lines to be inserted in Act 5, Scene 1, and added to the Speech of the Doge addressed to Benintende, Chief of the Council of Ten. The letter reached the publisher too late for a small number of copies, already printed. Instead of making "waste" of these few copies, Murray allowed them to pass into circulation and they must be reckoned with quite apart from the ordinary First Edition. The present copy is without these additional lines, and is consequently the First Issue.—Catalogue.]

[On the fly-leaf, Mr. Bowden, the celebrated Shakespearean scholar, has written, "First edition and an interesting piece. The Author is unknown and unfortunately so, as the play possesses no little merit, contains expressions used by Shakespeare which prove either a plagiarism from a common source or leave a doubt as to the authorship, as between Shakespeare & the unknown writer of this piece. No doubt on this account Ireland made it the medium of one of his forgeries, if indeed the name on the title-page is really a forgery, and which I may say I do not doubt it to be."—Catalogue.]

Dodd, A., Nov. 18, '18. (766) $81.00.

[Undescribed, and probably unique. The sonnet written to the painting by F. Sandys exhibited at the Royal Academy of Arts Exhibition in 1865 and which was printed in the Catalogue. It seems very probable that Mr. Sandys copied it off and made this lithograph. The handwriting is not that of Swinburne but is much more even, as if done by a professional engraver. It is here entirely unpunctuated, except for a period at the end, and there is a blank space instead of the word "ungrown" in next to the last line.—Catalogue.]
